Fiuggi, one of the most important thermal city of Europe, has preserved over the centuries the character of rural civilization, managing to preserve its immense natural resources from the risk of pollution elsewhere increasingly evident.

Located 30 minutes from Rome, 700 mt. above sea level, Fiuggi enjoys an enviable climate: temperate and always windy in the summer months, dry and not too cold in the winter months, it is chosen as a summer retreat by many professional sports teams, such as sslazio.
